Yank Air Raids Now Round Clock

TOKYO, July 11-(Tuesday)-United States troops, using tanks in combat for the first time in the Korean war, were locked today in a full-scale battle with Communist armored forces that have smashed to within some five miles north of the vital Kum river defense line.

The battle, on the west wing of a front blazing with action at several points across the peninsula, was disclosed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who announced that "a North Korean force, probably the third division, is in contact with a United States force just north of Chochiwon."

Chochiwon, an important railhighway junction, lies only five airline miles north of the upper crook of the Kum river and 18 miles north-northwest of the strategic stronghold of Kaejon. Arrival of the North Korean division before Chochiwon represented a maximum penetration by the invaders of 100 miles in side South Korea. It indicated a 15-mile Communist advance southeast from Red-captured Chonan. A front dispatch said a second American Army battalion was encircled by flanking Red columns south of Chonan and was trying to fight its way out in a battle which saw U. S. tanks enter the Korean fighting. A U. S. Army "lost battalion" had fought its way through an encircling Red division north of Chonan Sunday.

MacARTHUR, in his latest communique issued at midnight Monday, said the North Korean first division, "which encircled a United States battalion at Chonan, has advanced to the vicinity of Chongan," 27 airline miles east of Chonan.

TOKYO, July 11-(Tuesday)-United States troops, using tanks in combat for the first time in the Korean war, were locked today in a full-scale battle with Communist armored forces that have smashed to within some five miles north of the vital

Kum river defense line. The battle, on the west wing of a front blazing with action at several points across the peninsula, was disclosed by Gen. Douglas MacArthur who announced that "a North Korean force, probably the third division, is in contact with a United States force just north of Chochiwon."

Chochiwon, an important railhighway junction, lies only five airline miles north of the upper crook of the Kum river and 18 miles north-northwest of the strategic stronghold of Kaejon. Arrival of the North Korean division before Chochiwon represented a maximum penetration by the invaders of 100 miles inside South Korea.

It indicated a 15-mile Communist advance southeast from Red-captured Chonan. A front dispatch said a second American Army battalion was encircled by flanking Red columns south of Chonan and was trying to fight its way out in a battle which saw U. S. tanks enter the Korean fighting. A U. S. Army "lost battalion" had fought its way through an encircling Red division north of Chonan Sunday.

MacARTHUR, in his latest communique issued at midnight Monday, said the North Korean first division, "which encircled a United States battalion at Chonan, has advanced to the vicinity of Chongan," 27 airline miles east of Chonan.

The Communist columns, paced by Russian-made tanks, thus appared to be developing a double pincer thrust converging on the northward bulging Kum line from northwest and north-

MacArthur detailing Monday's fighting in several sectors, declared that Communist attacks launched last Friday night in the Chonan-Chochiwon areas "temporarily lost their momentum."

But the United Nations supreme commander added that "enemy reconnaissance elements are active and reinforcements are moving to forward areas," and that "this indicated preparation for renewed attacks."

MacArthur warned: "The enemy continues to indicate preparations for a widespread enveloping movement."

The supreme commander told of "increased activities on the east coast" by Red amphibious units at several enemy beachheads. This indicates southward Communist pressure "with opposition from friendly (South Korean) forces" in the direction of Korea's foremost port of Pusan on the peninsula's southeast

MacArthur said that the North Korean fifth division on the east wing of the front scored a further southward gain and came into battle with South Korean troops near Sinni, just northwest of Tanyang, and at Kadairi, to the northeast.

TANYANG IS a rail and highway town 68 miles west and inland from a Communist beachhead at Utchin and lies 73 miles north-northwest of the big hub of Taegu, which is about midway on the double-tracked rail-road linking Pusan with Taejon. 3 Are Injured

"The average person seems to have no fears about government spending bringing on national bankruptcy," the former senae idea that government spend ing is essential to continued prosperity and the carefully propagandized belief that the other fellow is footing the bill.

"However, to students of history, government spending figures bring up nightmares of national bankruptcy. They know it can't continue without bringing on financial disaster, not only to government, but to every citizen dwho has something he can lose.'

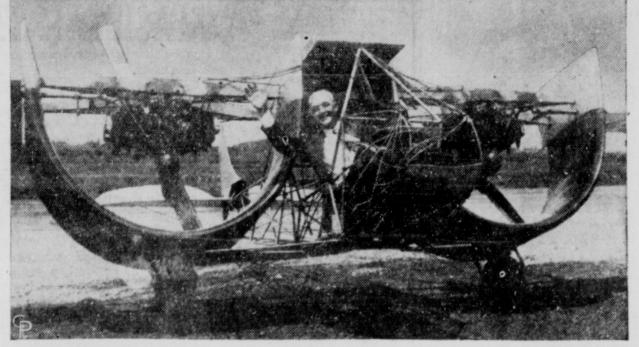

Air mail revenue produced for the government by scheduled airlines in 1949 was 42 percent greater than in 1946-a gross income of about $125,000,000.

Warning Given On Handling Crop

WOOSTER, July 10 - Ensiled crops spoil first and fastest where silo, crops, and air meet, according to Charles F. Rogers of the Department of Agronomy at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Because air cannot usually go down through the silage as fast as it gets down along the wall, top spoilage is commonly deepest at the wall.

Whatever helps to prevent the opening of a crack between silo and silage will bring up the level of good silage and flatten the usual rounded crown of good silage under unprotected silo top-

Those surface seals that completely stop entrance of air bring the level of good silage to the very top. Uniform distribution of crops during filling and careful levelling and tramping of the topfill will insure good results with any sealing measures.

Doors leaking air, or soft spots in silages from failure to distribute chopped crops as they go into the silo, will make less efplaced over silo topfills. . . .

SEPARATION OF silage and topseal from wall will result from uneven settling of silage surface. Such separation will permit rapid and extensive spoilage under protection.

When this separation results from deeply underlying causes of improper filling, the seal is not at fault even though it fails. A good seal on a good topfill will settle with the mass of silage and remain tight to he wall.

Continued tramping on unprotected topfill until settling nearly ceases is good. After the installation of paper cover or silage cap it is well to examine them frequently during the first month to correct any difficulties that may have arisen.

It is possible partially to corthey show up after sealing before damage to the protected material becomes extensive. Needed corrections can be found early only by frequent inspections during the first two weeks.

Lass Drowns While Wading

CLEVELAND, July 10-Sevenvear-old Margaret Ann Robinson of Wilmington, Del., drowned yesterday in suburban Breckof ville when she fell into a deep hole in Chippewa Creek while she was wading.

The girl, a former resident of Brecksville, was wading upstream with Joan Edwards, 7, when she fell into the hole. The Edwards girl ran for help and brought Margaret's father, John W. Robinson Jr., to the scene of the mishap.

Robinson found his daughter's body after a brief search, but she failed to respond to artificial respiration.

"JUST IMAGINE, I didn't even vote for the guy," enthuses Edward Korona, 33, Chicago waiter, as he displays autographed one dollar bill President Truman tipped him for serving breakfast. (International) heading for the sand dunes he got his first look, the other evening, at Broadway with all her headlights turned on. The man in the big cigaret ad was puffing smoke into Times Square, the animals in the animated electric signs were staging their nightly Keystone Kop chases, all of Douglas Leigh's five-million-bulb spectaculars were winking and blinking, and the red-orange glow hung over the canyon as if a five-alarm fire were burning merrily. M. It needs all the skill of the impressionists to capture it. I cannot paint it now, but it will keep incubating-until I try it." I am quoting M. Dufy second-hand. His reaction startled me; I have lived for so long now with the forest of Broadway that I cannot see it for the trees. Because I am perverse, I am as fond of its brashness and hullabaloo as I am, say,

LIKELY, HOWEVER, M. DUFY IS RIGHT. Overall patterns always are difficult to discover if you are wandering around in the center of the maze. There are few days that go by in the year when I don't deal with the world of Broadway for anywhere from a minute to a night. My Broadway is a street full of entertaining little oases. Part of it, for example, is the patch of sidewalk in front of the Palace theater. They have revived vaudeville there these days, offering a dozen as-

Dizziness Result of Many Ills By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DIZZINESS is not only a common and distressing symptom for the patient, but at times a baffling one for the doctor because there are so many conditions which may produce it.

To begin with, there are certain diseases which cause dizziness by their effect on the sense of balance. These include infections of the nervous system, pellagra (due to lack of one of the vitamins of the B-complex), and pernicious anemia, a disease of the blood which also damages

Failure of the brain to get enough oxygen also causes dizziness, no matter in what way this lack is produced. Hence, dizziness may be a symptom of cuts down the flow of blood to which the oxygen - carrying powers of the blood are impaired | It can be seen that when dizccur in certain cases of low the dizziness comes on chiefly for dizziness. when the patient assumes the standing position after sitting or lying down.

Migraine headaches may produce attacks of dizziness, but, in these instances, the dizziness is accompanied by headache.

Amout of Insulin

Another possible cause is an increase in the amount of insulin being formed by the pancreas, which causes a reduction in the quantity of sugar in the blood. Dizziness, which occurs when a person is hungry and disappears after food is taken, may be caused by this type of disturbance. Dizziness may occur in epilepsy and in infections of the brain, such as meningitis or encephalitis. In fact, any condition which causes an increase in the amount hardening of the arteries, which of pressure within the skull may bring on the attacks. LOCATING A LONE KING I East put on her thinking cap. ERASING a singleton king by, She was Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar, laying down an ace does not necessarily depend on intuitive hunches or courage, or anything of an esoteric nature. There are occasions on which plain ordinary logic, in the form of addition and subtraction, marks the play as one which will succeed, and still other times when it is clear that the only chance for a good result is to find the king singleton. In either of those cases, failure to lay down the ace would be bad

South didn't want the defenders to have any more opportunities than necessary for a switch to the dangerous hearts, so came in with his spade K when East played the 10 on West's lead of the 2. He was happy about his venturesome game bid, which appeared sure to produce ten tricks for him if the diamonds broke right. His heart sank when the diamond A and K failed to clear the suit. '2 Platoon' Poll System To Be Used

New Type Ballot Brings More Work

Pickaway County board of elections will employ the two platoon system when election day rolls around again next No-

Board officials said two crews will be employed to handle ballots on the big day.

One crew, consisting of six persons, will work from 6 a. m. to 6:30 p. m. They will be known as the receiving crew, and their work will consist of taking in ballots.

The six members of the receiving crew, three Democrats and three Republicans, will be selected by the central committeemen of each party.

The night crew will be made up of four county officials, and, according to state law, each member must have had experience in clerical work or accounting. These are the officials who perform the job of counting the ballots.

The county officials, two Democrats and two Republicans, are also selected by the central committeemen of each party.

IN THE SELECTION of this crew, however, the election board will oversee the appointments to make sure the persons selected are qualified to do the

Presiding judge of the counting crew will be appointed from among the four by the election board. Central committeemen of both parties select the presiding judge of the receiving crew. Salaries paid to members of the crews has been lowered to $8 each this year. Formerly it was $12. Reason advanced for use of the two crew system is that use of the "Massachusetts ballot" will cause extra work.

Expert Urging Ohio Plan To Manage Deer

COLUMBUS. July 10-Laurence E. Riordan, a Colorado deer survey authority, recommended today that a deer management program be set up in Ohio.

Riordan conducted the deer survey last Winter for the wildlife division of the state natural vey covered Ashtabula, Lake, Portage, Medina, Columbiana and Holmes Counties.

From the deer count made by airplane. Riordan concluded:

"A huntable population of deer now exists in all of the counties covered by the aerial survey except Columbiana where the land use pattern is such that no great increase of deer can be hunting." versity, succeeding Arthur

Expert Urging Ohio Plan To Manage Deer

COLUMBUS, July 10-Laurence E. Riordan, a Colorado deer survey authority, recommended today that a deer management program be set up in Ohio. Riordan conducted the deer survey last Winter for the wildlife division of the state natural resources department. The survey covered Ashtabula, Lake, Portage, Medina, Columbiana and Holmes Counties.

From the deer count made by airplane, Riordan concluded:

"A huntable population of deer now exists in all of the counties covered by the aerial survey except Columbiana where the State university from 1922 to 1946, Harold G. Olsen is the new cage coach at Northwestern university, succeeding Arthur hunting."

Riordan urged the employ- Chicago, 11 to 5. ment of a technician to conduct es seem necessary.
